French Affairs

PARIS July 9—The manifesto of Count Chambord is generally condemned in severe terms by the press as calculated to increase agitation, which it pretends to deprecate

The Assembly by a vote of 487 to 50 passed a bill imposing additional taxes on colonial produce

Elections for Paris will be held on the 26th instant The army everywhere vote the Republican ticket for Assembly

Gambetta is about to undertake the publication of a newspaper, and has proposed to Gen Faidherbe to take charge of the military portion of the journal

The present harvest of France will fall below the usual average

PARIS, July 9—The Gaulois says several legitimatists will resign their seats in the Assembly

Gambetta has written a letter rejoicing over the result of the elections and urging moderation and patience All lists of candidates voted for by the army were headed with Gambetta's name

Frightful Shipwreck

PARIS, July 9—The French ship Sévérence was totally wrecked on the coast of Cape Good Hope All on board and a large number of passengers were lost One hundred and fifty bodies washed ashore from the wreck

WASHINGTON CITY

Miscellaneous News

WASHINGTON, July 9—A special says considerable anxiety is felt here for the future movements of Admiral Rodgers, relative to the Corean difficulty It is feared that the matter has not progressed satisfactorily from the latest news received

A special agent of the Treasury Department reports a defalcation amounting to $11 000, in the Custom house at Savannah, Georgia $8 000 of the $11 000 is covered by false vouchers, and the balance is put down as extra charges not authorized by law

EASTERN STATES

Riot Apprehended in New York.

NEW YORK, July 9—The threatening attitude assumed by Irish Catholics towards Orangemen has been thought of sufficient importance by Archbishop McClosky to induce him to do all in his power to prevent an outbreak He notified the clergy to speak of the coming demonstration at each mass meeting to day and advise congregations to abstain from any overt act and allow the Orange procession to pass in peace Mayor Hall asserts that such measures have been taken to prevent a riot that it is physically an impossibility Yet it is known that several Hibernian clubs have made arrangements for target shooting and intend to meet the procession of Orangemen.

NEW YORK, July 9—Pursuant to instructions of Archbishop McClosky to the clergy of this city, delivered to day in all the churches at all masses appeals were made to congregations not to interfere in any way with Orangemen on Wednesday It appears to have had some effect on good Catholics generally, but the Fenian element, which combines in its ranks a vast number of ancient Hibernians is still turbulent

The New Jersey Railway Disaster

Five persons were killed and fifteen wounded by the Newark railroad disaster yesterday W Thompson the brakeman who left the switch misplaced and caused the accident, was arrested last night and lodged in New York city prison He has been in the employ of the company nine years and was always thought a most trustworthy man The railway company loses $100,000 by the accident which is the first of any importance that ever occurred between Newark and this city. Frank Kerman, the engineer who was killed, it seems enacted a heroic part Just before he died he said to a friend "I do not expect to live; I did all I could to stop the train, and feel satisfied I could have saved myself by jumping into the ditch but I hoped to save my engine and train, and hung on"

Sunday Law in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI July 9—There are unmistakable signs here that the repeal of the Sunday law will be made an issue in the elections The Germans agitate the question determinedly, and will insist on the repeal of the obnoxious law

Storm at Syracuse

SYRACUSE N Y, June 9—The most violent storm ever known passed over this place at 2 o'clock this afternoon followed in a short time by another wind blowing down trees from one to two feet in diameter One building was blown down The high school in Geddes and several barns were unroofed Lightning struck in every part of the city including houses of Senator Kennedy Alderman Hawley, and the Binghampton Railroad engine house doing much damage It set fire to two buildings six miles west of here, and struck Eugene Harris, killing him and stripping his clothes entirely off of him. During the storm hail as large as walnuts fell, doing great damage to crops

The Catholic Difficulty in Hudson N. Y.

HUDSON June 9—The Catholic rebellion in this city has assumed no new phase to day This morning the opponents of the priest gathered around the church to the number of 300, but conducted themselves in perfect order Father O Sullivan did not make his appearance but sent a request that the church be opened for usual services The assembled crowd gave him to understand that they were still firm in their resolution not to allow the church to be opened until their grievances were corrected Father O Sullivan recalled the priest from the parish Mass was celebrated at the priests residence at which less than thirty persons were present mostly women and children

HOW PHOTOGRAPHY ASSISTS JUSTICE.—An interesting article on the applications of Photography, in the Edinburg Review, contains the following

The law has obtained through this instrumentality a witness to the fact which it is difficult to gainsay There is no cross questioning such evidence In cases of boiler explosions and accidents to machinery, and even damage done to vessels by collisions it sees the silent evidence of the sun-picture is sufficient to settle many a disputed point and not long since a lawsuit in which Earl Spencer was one of the litigants, was decided by a photograph of a public road and garden wall which settled a point of disputed boundary

But the most extraordinary piece of legal evidence we have yet heard of occurred some time since in Australia A gentleman named Black went with a surveyor to examine into the particulars of a cotton mining claim when he was suddenly seized by some roughs supposed to be in the pay of the other side stripped smeared with tar and for want of feathers was ornamented with straw, wool and other rubbish When he managed to escape from his persecutors, instead of retiring to get rid of his horrid encumbrance, he determined to take a note of it at once, and forthwith proceeded to a photographer, where his likeness was taken in this extraordinary costume, and with this evidence upon him he proceeded to his lawyer, and laid his damages at $2,000, which he ought to have obtained, if he did not

Clearly and Forcibly Stated

An excellent speech was delivered by Senator Sherman of Ohio a few days ago before the Republican Convention of that State assembled at Columbus The new attitude of the Democratic party was made a subject of special examination It was a great matter the speaker thought, to secure even a formal acquiescence in constitutional changes especially when those changes involve the rights of millions of people, and when they have been opposed heretofore at every stage These changes were the main results of the war and the chief issues of the last Presidential election Speaking of their acceptance by the Democratic party, Senator Sherman said

We would have greater cause for rejoicing if we did not see so many reasons for regarding this new departure as a Trojan horse—a new device of the enemy—to steal into our camp and betray our cause What do they mean by denouncing the "extraordinary means by which the amendments were adopted? They were passed by a vote of two thirds of each House of Congress, and ratified by three fourths of the States Was this consent given? If so, the amendments are the supreme law Do they dispute the fact? If not why this "back handed lick" at what they ratify and agree to enforce Again, what do they mean by "vigorously applying the Democratic rule of strict construction to the amendments?" Does this conceal some covert purpose to defeat them? Is this a new Kentucky resolution of '98, containing the heresy of secession and nullification The XIVth Amendment is mainly only the true interpretation of the old Constitution but the vital principles and guarantees of the old Constitution were nullified by "strict construction," or rather by false construction hence the necessity of the XIVth Amendment which defines who are citizens, what are the rights of a citizen and specifically gives Congress the power to enforce them by appropriate legislation If Calhoun's doctrine of "strict construction" is to be revived, to defeat the Amendments, then nothing is settled What we mean is, that these Amendments are the logical results of a great civil war, which brushed from our atmosphere all taint of slavery, secession and Calhounism, that they shall have their full operation according to the plain meaning of English words, and that Congress shall from time to time pass laws to enforce them, and that the President shall execute these laws fully and efficiently, subject only to the judicial power of the Courts of the United States If that is what they mean by the "New Departure" it is all right, if not, it is a mere political trick, too shallow to mislead or deceive any one

This is very much to the point What follows is equally so. We quote

Again, what do they mean by their fifth resolution? Is it the mere naked axiom that acts passed by Congress are subject to repeal? If so why pompously utter what all admit? But the context shows that they mean a repeal of all the acts passed to enforce the Amendments The Amendments without the appropriate legislation, are mere dogmas, without inherent power of enforcement The ten commandments are laws of the highest sanction, but what are they worth without penalties and punishments? What good does it do to say, "Thou shalt not murder," unless the law comes in and says "If thou dost murder, thou shalt surely be put to death or be imprisoned"? What use is it to say that all men shall have equal political and civil rights unless the law punishes a violation of these rights What does this "New Departure" mean except to say, "We recognize the Amendments, but we will repeal the laws that enforce them

Speaking of the Republican party, Senator Sherman said

We need to pass no resolutions to assure any any one that we will stand by and enforce the 13th, 14th, and 15th Amendments We proposed them we advocated them, and what is supported by the people will enforce them That we have been liberal to vanquished foes is shown by the fact that, after waging a war of unexampled proportions no blood was shed for political offences No property has been confiscated Many of the leading rebels are now protected in the secure enjoyment of large estates and show their gratitude for our generosity by hissing on disguised murderers and outlaws, to the murder and scourging of poor negroes, and preachers, and teachers We conferred franchises upon millions but we deprived no one of any rights they had before the war except only that we forbade for a time the leading rebels of the South from holding office This was the extent of our punishment I have been disposed to pardon even this, but after recent developments, I will not vote to relieve from any disability such men as Davis and Toombs, who are totally incapable of appreciating generosity I never questioned the justice of excluding these men from office, but I would, if their conduct would ever allow it, make our treatment of them so generous and forgiving that history never could surpass it The Republican party, from its very nature, could not be cruel or aggressive We have so many humanitarians among us that they often demand Amnesty when punishment is required We fought for the liberty of others, and for the union of all, and could not logically deprive any one of liberty, or civil or political rights, except as the public safety clearly demanded, If we have erred, it has been in underrating the power of these rebels and the danger that may come from them. The Republican party has excelled the generosity of the Girondists, and has exhibited none of the fury of their enemies All our measures since the war (and the amendments are the most important) were aimed to secure personal rights The additional powers given to Congress by the amendments are only to enable Congress to enforce these rights and to give pardon to the rebels They talk about the "bayonet bill" and the "Ku Klux bill" These bills were demanded by organized resistance to fair election and to [illegible] crimes of the most revolting character against the commonest of the rights of humanity If they are not sufficient we will give them others The difference is that they would encourage the crimes we try to prevent and punish If they will restrain their fellow Democrats of the South from murder and organized frauds we will repeal these laws if not, we will pass more effective laws

CHASE FOR PRESIDENT.—The New York Herald has an article on Chief Justice Chase's evident longings to be the Democratic candidate for President It sums up with the following bit of plain talk to the Chief Justice

We can tell him that General Grant is recognized by the people as a great improvement upon Andrew Johnson in the matter of the redemption of the public debt that the great treaty of the Joint High Commission is winning golden opinions for the administration from all sorts of men, that the horrible atrocities of the Paris Commune have produced a great moral reaction even in the United States in favor of "the powers that be" that the Republican malcontents arrayed against General Grant are disappointed spoils men and place hunters and that while the Great Powers of Europe recognize the commanding position among the nations gained by the United States from the honest peace policy which has marked General Grant's administration, he is recognized at home as the master of the Presidential succession There was "considerable opposition among some of the Republicans" including Mr Chase, to the renomination of Abraham Lincoln in 1864, but with his renomination all opposition melted away So it will be with the renomination of General Grant Nor does this new departure promise the Democratic restoration anticipated by the Chief Justice with a good candidate, for in placing the Democracy upon the Republican platform it makes them the endorsers of all they have been condemning and fighting for the last ten yea, for the last forty years To sum up our case with the Chief Justice, from present appearances his political career is ended, and General Grant, against all comers is far ahead, and holds the inside track for 1872

The Impending Riot in New York.

NEW YORK, July 10—Rumors are still rife of an impending riot between the Orangemen and Fenians on Wednesday It is said a delegation of the Hibernian Society left last night to see the President and ask the interposition of the Federal authorities to prevent an outbreak Mayor Hall this morning asserted that there would be no riot, and that the Orangemen, in case they paraded, would be protected The impression prevails that Hibernian societies will take the advice of the clergy and not interfere with the Orangemen Archbishop McClosky, in a sermon at the dedication of St Paul's church, Harlem, yesterday alluded to the threatened demonstration against the Orangemen on Wednesday expressing the hope that the procession would not be allowed by the authorities but earnestly entreating and exhorting all Catholics to beware of even going near it

POLITICAL NOTES

The Cincinnati Commercial, in speaking of General Noyes as a candidate for Governor of Ohio, says "There are several things in favor of General Noyes In the first place he has not a wooden head; and, in the second place, he has a wooden leg, having lost a member on the Fourth of July at a celebration in Georgia, the fireworks being conducted by Generals Sherman and Johnson"

The New York Standard says "It is cruel in these papers to hold out the hope to the Chief Justice that he may be the successor of President Grant He was stronger with the Democratic party in 1868 than he has been since he tumbled from the Democratic into the Republican fold He could not get the nomination then, he will not get it in 1872. And even if he did he could not be elected The people will never make President any man no matter how distinguished, whose political acrobatic feats are as periodical as the election to fill that office."

THE FOURTH AT SODAVILLE—THE SPRINGS AND THEIR MEDICAL VIRTUE [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

SIR.—The glorious Fourth passed off very pleasantly at Sodaville and was suitably observed by the health and pleasure seekers sojourning here As no previous arrangements had been made the celebration was somewhat an impromptu affair The exercises were however very entertaining and were well appreciated by all present A procession was formed and marched to the martial note of the fife of our genial friend Jackson to the grove where the Declaration was read in excellent style by Dr Magers the Liberty Tree and other patriotic songs by the inimitable vocalist Prof Jackson and eloquent and stirring addresses made by Drs Farnsworth and Magers After which everybody led by your correspondent, countermarched to the spring and there in ample draughts drank the health of themselves, their ancestry and posterity, as well as that of everybody else At night our old friend Engle gave a grand ball, where "the young men and maidens continued to "trip the light fantastic" until daylight reappeared. And I am assured it was no ordinary shin-dig

These springs still retain their well-earned celebrity as the Saratoga of Oregon—still giving new evidences of their wonderful medicinal virtues Some [illegible] the curative effects of the water are [illegible] That of Uncle Billy Donelson [illegible] here some two or three weeks ago [illegible] walking skeleton, and went away [illegible] restored to his wonted health, has surprised the most sanguine believers in the soda water as a restorative medicine I [illegible] it is a most effective remedy for dyspepsia liver complaint diseases of the blood chills and fever, kidney affections, and divers other ailments that flesh is heir to And while it cannot be claimed that it will cure anything yet I have little doubt that it will contribute to that result far more effectually than the cure all medicines that deluge the land, and are for sale by all druggists At any rate the trial is far less deleterious to the [illegible] constitutional vigor of the [illegible] as well as far less expensive [illegible] and engratiating friend [illegible] C [illegible] rented the house of Mr W [illegible] for the [illegible] of the season, has wholly rearranged and refitted the rooms in such apple pie order and, with his good lady, is ever on hand seeking to secure the comfort of his guests and patrons the facilities for testing their good qualities are greatly enhanced And you will allow me to advise your editorialship and all the good people of Oregon and more especially the afflicted to avail themselves of the rare opportunities of making a pilgrimage to these springs, and freely partaking of this great remedy of nature CENTER

The Holly Water Works

A few weeks ago a citizen of Portland addressed a letter to the Holly Company at Lockport, New York, asking for special information in regard to their system of water supply and fire protection Following is the letter received in reply

LOCKPORT N Y June 27 1871

DEAR SIR We are in receipt of yours of the 12th inst and have mailed you some pamphlets, reports etc by which you will see what we have done and are doing We have now under way a set of machinery for Atlanta, Ga which is to force the water five miles and up an elevation of [illegible] feet and from the top of this elevation throw streams for fire purposes, 80 feet high [illegible] are also making machinery for [illegible] Des Moines, Iowa Allegan and [illegible] Mich Portsmouth and Ironton Ohio and several other places We should be glad to put in machinery on the Pacific coast The cost of water works on this plan is [illegible] than any other, and the water purer and better All the machinery is duplicated to guard against accident, and the fire protection [illegible] complete that no fire has ever reached [illegible] building in any place having [illegible] and in every place the rates of insurance have fallen from one third to one half [illegible] the introduction of this machinery [illegible] and other places [illegible] plan of filtering it continues [illegible] and to the satisfaction of all [illegible] wells are capable of furnishing twenty millions gallons per twenty four hours and the water taken from the wells is always clear [illegible] times of high flood when it is very muddy in the river, and is not visited by fish or reptiles as nothing can reach the well except by filtering through the gravel

The cost of works like those at Binghamton having a capacity of 2 000 000 gallons per day and distributing the same throughout the city, whose greatest elevation is about 60 feet is for machinery at our factory $[illegible] 000 To this the freight and cost of setting up would have to be added The population of Binghamton is about [illegible] 000 and rapidly growing We make six sizes of machinery to run by steam power and the same by water power The pipe for this size varies from four to twelve inches in diameter but will not average much if any over six inches It is of cast iron one half inch thick and should be guaranteed to stand a pressure of 300 pounds per square inch The cost of pipe at the principal factories is about $50 per ton The cost of hydrants is $40 each for single discharge and $50 each for double discharge delivered here

The cost of repairs for machinery at Binghampton has been nothing for the three years it has been in use The saving in insurance alone will pay the entire cost of water works on this plan in from two to five years This system tends to stimulate manufacturing and also has a most beneficial influence on the health and comfort and beauty of the place as it is possible to have fountains anywhere Your expense for fire department will be reduced to cost of hose companies and water can be put upon a fire in from one to three minutes Shall be glad to hear from you at any time Yours

TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 11 1871

An Abortive Hope

In the Herald's Fourth of July article we read a homily on the ideas of government as entertained by the Democratic party, and found in that article the same ideas and doctrines advanced which kept the country in a turmoil for many years and finally brought on the rebellion To produce a discourse on the Fourth of July, in commemoration of the independence and nationality of the United States, and at the same time undertake to prove in that discourse that the people of this country do not constitute a nation, but only a loose league of States, subject to no paramount authority, is indeed a singular sort of employment on a national anniversary. The Herald's object seemed to be to assert that the so-called principles of the Democratic party, including chiefly its State-rights theories which led the country into war and came near accomplishing its destruction, will yet be reestablished and vindicated as the "chief corner stone of the national edifice"

It was not," says that paper, "until a party became possessed of power which ignored this great doctrine of State Sovereignty that we had rebellion and civil war" strange that those who write of events freshly remembered, will in this way attempt to pervert the truth of history All [illegible] that it was the doctrine of State Sovereignty that caused the rebellion. The rebels [illegible] doctrine, the Democratic party held [illegible] former seceded under it, and the latter [illegible] constitutional power to prevent secession Had the Republican party accepted the doctrine the rebellion would at once have become an accomplished fact The country would have been divided, but war could not long have [illegible] averted.

The truth of these things is now fully seen and clearly understood The war was a struggle between two ideas of Government. The rebels held the State Sovereignty idea which the Herald commends, the Unionists held the National idea, which that paper denounces and condemns No one need suppose that the Herald's "great principle," which went down with the surrender of the rebel armies will ever be attempted as the chief corner stone of the national edifice." The American people will never stultify themselves so much as that

Water Works.

We print to-day a letter from the Secretary of the Holly Company at Lockport, N Y, to a [illegible] of this place, in which much valuable information is given in regard to the Holly system of water works The letter should be perused by our citizens generally, and we [illegible] for the plan which it sets forth careful consideration at the hands of our city authorities

After reading the statement of what the Company engage to do at Atlanta, Georgia, there should be no doubt of the entire feasibility of the application of their plan in this city [illegible] highest elevations will not exceed those at Atlanta to which water is to be conveyed We believe that an adequate supply of good water can be obtained for this city by this method at less expense than by any other Some of our contemporaries insist on bringing water from the Clackamas We do not oppose this proposition, at the same time we must be blind to the fact that this would be a very great undertaking for a city no larger than ours Still it would probably be well to have this project examined and an estimate of the cost of the plan prepared and laid before the city For this purpose a competent and experienced engineer should be obtained Other plans should also be examined studied and estimated upon, so that the city might be enabled to adopt the one which after an investigation of the whole subject might seem most desirable

Recurring again to the Holly plan the fact may be mentioned that a gentleman now in this city is well acquainted with it and its workings particularly the establishment at Binghamton New York, and he states that the system is a very satisfactory one At Binghamton water is furnished to families at four dollars a year and the supply is steady and abundant This also includes a supply for both room and fountain, without increase of price There is a very appreciable difference between this and the charges for water here which for a supply like that furnished at Binghamton costs our citizens from fifty to one hundred and fifty dollars each, per annum The agitation of this subject will, it is to be hoped lead to the adoption of some plan to secure better water than we have now, and to the obtainment of it at cheaper rates.

CURRENT NOTES

A Boston dispatch gives this Gov Claflin [illegible] asked the opinion of the Supreme Court [illegible] the eligibility of females to office, Mrs Julia Ward Howe and Miss Stevens having been previously appointed, the Court decided that if a woman whether married or unmarried) should be formally appointed and commissioned, she would have no constitutional or legal authority to exercise any functions of office.

The Russians in Sitka have commenced a new era. Before the cession of the Territory, many of them were officers and clerks in the service of the Russian Government, drawing large salaries and commanding but to be obeyed. The change that came over the spirit of their dreams brought them to hard work, and now they can pack codfish, saw wood, work on the wharf, or do any other manual labor like those born thereto. Like men they accept the situation and make the best of it

The Montgomery Real Estate Company, says the San Francisco Real Estate Circular, has borrowed $145 000 more from the Clay Street Bank, to be used for the erection of improvements on Montgomery Street South The Virginia city agent of one of our largest banks has borrowed $100 000 on the property on the south side of Bush street, adjoining the Cosmopolitan on the west, paying therefor only nine per cent. per annum He had for about two years been paying a higher rate to a savings bank, the loan from which he has paid

The Secret of Napoleon's Downfall

[From Lippincott's Magazine]

Napoleon III is cool and calculating by nature yet even he was not able to escape that intoxication which history teaches us is inseparable from the acquisition of new and great powers Up to 1860 he had conducted himself with rare circumspection, though still rising, he advanced with extreme caution, and steadily kept within certain bounds By protecting the Popedom, he had won the hearts of the Catholic clergy, both in and out of France, and secured a foothold on the other side of the Alps England, whose public opinion was at first very adverse to him, he propitiated by the Crimean war, and then cemented the alliance by a liberal commercial treaty He had sapped the power of Austria in the Alpine peninsula, and sown at the same time the seed for that discord between Austria and Prussia which he vainly hoped would lead to their mutual injury and enfeeblement Judged from his stand-point, thus far all seemed well planned and successfully executed. Neither public opinion nor cabinets had as yet taken special offence But the secret consciousness that to become indispensable to the fickle French people, and to perpetuate his dynasty, he must still further augment the prestige and power of the second Empire by territorial aggrandizement, drove him into those ill-matured, rash enterprises which have terminated in his complete ruin Now and then he appeared disposed to pause in the downward course into which he had been reluctantly betrayed. But fate and the logic of events impelled him on, until he found himself reduced to a position closely resembling that of his uncle—all of which corroborates the opinion that the Bonapartes are incapable of producing anything lasting, and that they are neither fitted for a Republic nor a Monarchy, having destroyed the former and misused the latter

[This is a very superficial view The Bonapartes did not make France, France produced the Bonapartes They are the children of the Revolution, and if they cannot produce anything lasting it is because the country has broken away from its moorings and in its Government neither strength nor stability is possible For eighty years the Revolution has been in progress The old form of Government has long been broken up, and through all the years that have followed, the French have not been able to devise anything of a permanent character to take its place The country is drifting like Delos, before it was fixed fast by Apollo This is the reason why the Napoleonic dynasty is not stable Since the first Napoleon there have been two other dynasties, the Republic, and the Napoleonic dynasty again, and none of them have stood That founded by Napoleon has been as firm as any of the rest, and even firmer It is not, therefore, that Napoleon cannot give rest to France No dynasty can France herself cannot rest Since the great Revolution stability is not possible An old system has been destroyed, and nothing new has been devised to succeed it. It may be centuries before France works out this great problem. —ED OREGONIAN]

NEW YORK COMMERCIAL NEWS

A correspondent of the Alta at New York under date of June 29th telegraphs

Last week freights via the railroad were quiet, the agent having been generally firm in his tariff rates, consequently less freight has gone forward than if it had competed with the steamer for to-morrow. It is understood that the general agent of the Central Pacific refuses to co operate with the other roads in adopting rates that would secure the bulk of the business which on this occasion has been done by the steamer route

Freights via the Isthmus have been more active than by the other routes, owing to the refusal of the railroad agent to accept the rates offered by shippers, as well as the low figures accepted by the steamer agent, which in some instances are lower than before asked for the same line of goods. Last week it was understood that both agents had agreed to stand firm on the tariff rates and watch the results, but it seems the steamer agent broke faith—at least such is the report of shippers, consequently the steamer of to-morrow will have a large cargo.

The amount of freight that is daily seeking transportation by short routes by steamer is increasing, although there is no apparent diminution in the amount going by clipper It is largely made up of coarser freight than heretofore, the greater portion of which is sent here from Boston to California

The shipping trade appears to be in a decline, and it will not be long ere one of the lines from here will have to succumb to the short routes, which are gradually but surely becoming favorable with the larger portion of our shippers. Suitable vessels for this trade are scarce, owners looking more to trans-Atlantic business in view of the high rates for grain.

Late reports from Europe in regard to the crop prospects are such as to excite apprehensions of smaller supplies than usual In France the fields are almost barren and have a scorched and burnt appearance, while at least one third of the crop land is not under seed A similar story comes from Germany, the season unfavorable, the extraordinary cold nights having nipped the young crops The prospects in England are not more satisfactory, snow fell in Yorkshire, Warwickshire, and along the northeastern coast as late as the end of May, while the southern counties, from Leicester downward, complain of drought, chilly nights and a bad outlook generally In Russia an average yield is expected, and Austria counts upon the same. On the whole it is evident that this continent will be called on to supply large quantities of food to the old world

Wool has been active and prices a shade higher. The new clip comes forward more freely, but the demand is insufficient to prevent accumulation of stock. California wools are active and higher, sales in this market of 175,000 pounds Spring at 28@41, 15 000 pounds do burry, at 24, 3,000 pulled, at 51@57 At Boston, 43 000 pounds at 26@28, 15,000 pounds Fall at 30, total sales of California wool in this market the last six months, 5,319 000 pounds, at Boston, 452,000 pounds

Recently published official statistics show that there are in the United States 74,413 miles of telegraph line, of which 56,403 miles belong to the Western Union Telegraph Company, and 18,010 to various other companies. The number of miles of wire amounts to 153,063 miles, of which 119,453 belong to the Western Union, and 33,611 to other companies. The number of stations is 5,240, the Western Union having 4 391, and other companies 849 The Western Union Telegraph Company owns 5,801 sets of instruments, and has 6,080 persons in its employ The statistics of the above company for 1870 are as follows Number of messages sent, 9 933 327, gross receipts $7,434 083, expenditures, $5,101,317, net profits, $2,352,740, expended in new construction, $399,255

At the 51st annual commencement of Georgetown College, a few days ago, General Sherman, in the course of a short address, said the attempt to divide the Union in our generation failed, and would always fail He would as soon expect to see an attempt to dissolve this Union in the future come from the North as from the South, but it will never come We now are joined together stronger than by bars of steel.

MORNING, JULY 11, 1871

CITY.

THE TRIAL OF THOMAS WARD.—The trial of Thomas Ward for the murder of Isaiah Graham on the 1st of June, was begun at half past 10 A. M. yesterday, in the Circuit Court. Forty jurors were called and examined before the panel was completed. The list of jurors empaneled will be found in the published court proceedings. The jurymen are mostly from the country outside the city limits, and they appear to be a great set of men. The case was opened at half past 3 P. M., by Prosecuting Attorney C. Gibbs for the State, and by J. C. Moreland, of the firm of Caples & Moreland, for the defense. Gov. Gibbs is assisted by J. N. Dolph, and the defence is conducted by Messrs. Caples & Moreland, alone. The prisoner sits [illegible] maintaining a stolid indifference as if he had but little interest in the result. His wife sits beside him, quiet, but evidently anxious and watchful. It is clear she will suffer if the trial results in a conviction, and will be the most rejoiced if an acquittal is returned. Up to the adjournment last evening only [illegible], on the part of the prosecution, had been examined, though the story of each was a [illegible]. The trial attracts much attention and a number of spectators, both white and colored, were present during the entire day. It is thought the testimony will be all in by noon today, but the case may not be submitted before [illegible].

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.—We learn by the [illegible] that Mr. Jas. H. Vinson, late of Oro Fino [illegible] this city, has obtained the management of the Metropolitan Theater at San Francisco. The Alta of the 6th inst. says: "This theatre will be opened next Monday evening [the [illegible] by a full dramatic company to produce a [illegible] for Joe Murphy, entitled "Help." [illegible] had the piece constructed to exhibit [illegible] ability in Dutch, Irish and Ethiopian [illegible], and his proficiency in playing musical instruments and he has succeeded in gaining [illegible] and favorable notices from the papers [illegible] where he has presented the play. [illegible] company consists of Mrs F M Bates, Miss [illegible]kley, Miss Jennie Mandeville Mrs [illegible] Miss Susie Soule Miss Carrie Lipsis, [illegible] Shattuck, Messrs J M. Hardie, J H. [illegible] Frank Rea, George Hinckley, H. Colton, [illegible] John Woodard W C Dudley, R. [illegible] A Wilson and W Richards Mr. [illegible] stage manager." The following paragraph from the Call of the 6th inst. "The [illegible] engaged as the support includes Mrs. [illegible] a charming actress and great favorite [illegible] San Franciscan theater goers, who will [illegible] to welcome her back to the boards of [illegible] after her long absence in the North."

WATER FOR THE CITY.—While the people of [illegible] are thinking about the various means of supplying the city with water of a [illegible] and at cheaper rates than they now [illegible] that promises feasibility is worth [illegible] to their notice. Mr J Hexter writes [illegible] has within seven miles of this city springs of almost ice-cold water issuing [illegible] sufficient capacity to [illegible] a population of at least 25 000. These [illegible] Government military surveys are 193 [illegible] water mark of the Columbia. They [illegible] as any place and within a radius [illegible] yards. The great height and pressure [illegible] the water somewhere on Robinson's [illegible] without the intervention of steam and [illegible] you at present employ [illegible] raise your [illegible] water. As regards the cost of [illegible] Portland. The heavy pressure would [illegible] thick iron pipes, say 25 pounds to [illegible] six cents per pound this would be [illegible] feet. Say 5,280 feet to the mile, the [illegible] to $7,500 per mile. For the distance [illegible] and a half miles, the pipes would cost [illegible] I believe they can be laid from [illegible] to Portland for less than $10,000. I [illegible] a warranty deed."

LOST.—A little boy of Mr Ed Cham[illegible] five and six years of age, has been [illegible] at 5 o clock last Friday. When last [illegible] he corner of the Plaza, where [illegible] by an elder brother. A search for [illegible] afterward proved fruitless, and [illegible] have been unable to learn even the [illegible] of him though they have made [illegible] and wide inquiry. They do not believe he was [illegible] the river, but have no theory [illegible] for his mysterious disappearance, unless [illegible] that he was stolen by somebody or that [illegible] away and became too confused to find [illegible] His name is Levi, but he would answer [illegible] name [illegible] Chambreau. If any [illegible] know or learn of his fate or whereabouts [illegible] would confer a very great favor upon [illegible] and distracted family by giving information at [illegible].

SHEPPARD THE PEDESTRIAN.—We called [illegible] at 5 o clock yesterday afternoon to [illegible] was left of Jack Sheppard after his walk [illegible] hours. We found that he was all there and [illegible] He had just been roused up from a [illegible] of eight hours, and he had got up [illegible] to stir around a little. He was [illegible] still and disposed to fall asleep again, if [illegible] still a moment. His right ankle was [illegible] badly swollen, but not so badly as it had [illegible] some of his previous walks. It will require [illegible] 30 days, he thinks, to get down to [illegible] of sleep again, and to feel all right. [illegible] during his walk between three and four [illegible] but aside from a somewhat haggard [illegible], he appears but little the worse for his [illegible].

LAND OFFICE BUSINESS.—The following is a [illegible] of lands disposed of at the Land Office [illegible] City during the quarter ending June [illegible]

	Acres
[illegible] sales	12,075.10
[illegible] entries	5,068.41
[illegible] proved up	3,236.39
[illegible] filings	3,800.59
	26,036.49

NAVIGATION OF THE UPPER COLUMBIA.—We [illegible] that Snake river is falling rapidly. The steamer Owyhee will leave Celilo this morning for [illegible], and thereafter during the navigation [illegible] Snake river will run between Wallula and [illegible], connecting at the former place with the [illegible]. The Tenino will leave Celilo on Wednesday morning for Umatilla and Wallula. It is not [illegible] that the steamers will run to Lewiston [illegible] any great length of time.

A NEW BOAT.—The new lap streak boat some [illegible] since ordered from Victoria by the Neptune [illegible] Club arrived by the steamship California [illegible] day morning. It is of the same size and [illegible] as the Neptune, the pioneer boat in these [illegible]. We understand it is the intention of [illegible] club to arrange for a regatta to take place in [illegible] short time. Two trained crews will row against each other, in the Neptune and the Zealous, the latter, the new boat.

PUMPING.—The steam engine of Protection Co No. 4 was employed all day yesterday in pumping out the cellars under the buildings occupied by [illegible] Goldsmith & Co, and J O'Connor & Co [illegible] arising from the water thrown out, [illegible] all nostrils in that neighborhood that [illegible] were not applied any too soon. There [illegible] numerous other cellars where, for sanitary [illegible] the pumps should be set to work.

THE RIVER.—The Wallamet is now falling rapidly and will soon be entirely within its [illegible] low water banks. The P. T. Co's [illegible] is now not more than two feet under water, and at the present rate of decline the water will leave it bare by to morrow. The river is now below the level of all the cellars as far down as the O. S. N. Co's dock.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The next term of the Public Schools will commence September 4 and end December 8. The second term will begin [illegible] 11 and end March 23, 1872. There will be a vacation during this term for Christmas and New Year's. The third term will begin April 1 and end June 29, 1872.

FINGER SAWED OFF.—A laborer in Abrams & Rogers's sawmill had the misfortune to get his right hand against a circular saw in motion, and the result was the loss of the third finger and the [illegible] of some of the hand bones.

BODY FOUND.—The body of a man in a very advanced stage of decay, was found in the river at the foot of Taylor street, yesterday afternoon. It was too much decayed and disfigured for identification.

[illegible] TO-NIGHT.—Rev. T. F. Campbell will deliver another free lecture this evening at the [illegible] church, on the subject of "Death, [illegible], Geology."

OUR FIREMEN TO THE SALEM FIREMEN.—At a regular meeting of Multnomah Engine Company No 2, held on the evening of July 6th, 1871, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted.

WHEREAS, The manner in which we were entertained by the Salem Fire Department, upon the occasion of our visit, July 4th last, calls for some slight expression at our hands, therefore,

Resolved, That Multnomah Fire Engine Co. No. 2, unanimously pronounce the Salem boys a set of bricks, well worthy the foundation of any Department to rest upon

That we thank them most heartily for the princely style in which we were entertained, and hope they may be pleased to render us an opportunity of reciprocating in some slight degree the marked courtesy and many favors lavished upon us.

That John G Wright, Esq, Chief Engineer of the Salem Fire Department, for his kindness and the courtesy with which we were treated as guests of his Department, has proven himself, in our opinion, "the right man in the right place."

That a copy of the foregoing be forwarded to the Secretary of the Salem Fire Department and be published in the daily papers of Salem and Portland.

F. A THOMSON,
Secretary Multnomah Engine Co No 2

BRUTALITY TOWARDS A CHINAMAN.—Last evening a fellow called Wilson was filling a street sprinkling cart at Walter Moffit's corner, and a small Chinaman was standing on the sidewalk a few feet from Wilson, when the latter wantonly turned the hose on the unoffending Celestial and drenched the lower part of his body. The Chinaman stood the operation for some time, when he jumped at his assailant and tried to turn the nozzle upon him. The matter by this time began to attract some attention and Wilson ceased. We understand Wilson excuses himself on the ground that he wanted to sprinkle the sidewalk and the Chinaman would not get out of the way. This is very improbable, however, and no excuse for his brutal conduct if true. It is not likely that Wilson would have ventured to turn his hose upon a white man under the same circumstances. As it was, the Chinaman had as much right on the sidewalk as Wilson. It is time these fellows learned that this is a land of equal rights and that a brute of a white man cannot impose upon a helpless Chinaman with impunity.

OYSTERS FROM NEW YORK.—Mr J. H. Upton laid upon our table last evening several very large fine oysters, received by the steamer of yesterday. They were sent direct from New York city, packed in ice, and came out as fresh and sweet as if caught but yesterday.

CIRCUS.—Jeal's circus arrived at Oregon City yesterday and played at that place last evening. It will arrive here to day and will open to-morrow night.

Our Skins are Seives,

And through millions of orifices oozes the transparent fluid which nature does not need for vital purposes. This is a wise provision of Providence but excessive perspiration is nevertheless extremely weakening. During the heats of summer all hard working men perspire to an extent that is more or less debilitating. They, of all classes of the community require a wholesome invigorant at this season. Let them not seek it in the liquors of the bar room; they will not find it there. A medicated stimulant, pure and undefiled is what they need and among this class of remedies, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stands alone. No valid plea can be urged against its use even by the genius of Temperance itself for even the Maine law permits the sale of diffusive stimuli for medicinal purposes. As a general renovating preparation, the Bitters has no equal anywhere. But this is only one of the merits of this famous invigorator. Its regulating properties give it an immense superiority over all the tonics of the Pharmacopeia. In cases of chronic constipation it is the most useful and certain of all aperients. It creates no violent commotion in the discharging organs but gently relieving them of their obstructions leaves them in a healthy, vigorous condition. It seems unnecessary to state, in view of the mass of testimony as to its effects in dyspepsia, that it is a permanent cure for that terrible but too general complaint.

The numerous "Bitters" under various names which mercenary dealers endeavor to substitute for Hostetter's Stomach Bitters should be avoided, for their own sakes, by the sick and the public at large. Hostetter's Bitters are procurable in bottles only, and never sold in bulk.

GENERALITIES.

A negro woman 120 years old lives in Franklin, La. She has a baby nearly 80, but weaned.

In Louisville recently a lady was shot by a pistol which accidently fell from the pocket of a clergyman.

A housewife in New Orleans, in filling up her schedule of the census paper, describes herself as the "head of the family," while in respect to the trade of her husband she wrote, "He turns my mangle."

Two young women, members of the next graduating class at Westfield, Mass., normal school, have been offered situations at a salary of $1,000 each, and all of them will have good situations ere the term closes.

A Vermonter lately taken to task for beating his wife, extinguished his persecutors thusly: "I have read ancient and modern history, and rode on a peddler's cart thirteen years, and I think I know something of human nature and when my wife ought to be whipped."

A female prize-fight took place at Salem, Mass., a few days ago. Here is a portion of one round: "Nell was a little behind time with her counter, but received the blow smilingly, and soon opened with her left, getting in a stunner on the widow's wig, and sending the latter to grass. First knock down for Nell."

A woman in St. Louis has capped the climax of suicidal effort, and has bidden farewell to this world amid a halo of murky smoke and curling flames, kindled by herself. She tried to drown herself first, but was prevented; she then effectually precluded all hope of prevention by returning to her home, drenching herself with petroleum and then setting herself on fire.

"Was Vallandigham a Traitor?"

The Chicago Republican contains the following letter:

CHICAGO, June 22, 1871.

To the Editor of the Republican:

In your issue of this morning, in an article entitled, "Was Vallandigham a Traitor," you repeat what you have previously asserted, that he was not. The South was in rebellion against the Government for independence. If Vallandigham sympathized with them in this desire, was he not as much of a traitor as [illegible]? Below is a letter, over his own signature, in which [illegible] and aye for [illegible] struggle [illegible] make he was then [illegible] "y still" and even [illegible] commend- he the [illegible] of the North [illegible] this does not constitute [illegible] please tell the meaning that word. The following is the letter referred to. It was written to Col. [illegible] of the Eighth Alabama Regiment, while Vallandigham was in the South:

"[illegible] correctly when you say that you believe me to be the friend of the South in her struggle for freedom. My feelings have been publicly expressed in my own country in the quotation from Lord Chatham: 'My Lords, you cannot conquer America.' There is not a drop of Puritan blood in my veins. I hate, despise, and defy the tyrannical Government which has sent me among you for my opinion's sake, and shall never give any support in its crusade upon your institutions. But you are mistaken when you say there are but few such in the United States, North. Thousands are there who would speak but for the military despotism that strangles them.

"Although the contest has been, and will continue to be, a bloody one, you have but to persevere, and the victory will surely be yours. You must strike home! The defensive policy lengthens the contest. The shortest road to peace is the bloodiest one. You can have your own terms by gaining the battle on your enemy's soil.

"Accept my regards for your personal welfare, and sincere thanks for your kind wishes in my behalf, and hoping and praying for the ultimate cause in which you are fighting, believe me, as ever, your friend;

C. L. VALLANDIGHAM.

Col. [illegible] Tushall, Eight Ala. Vol."

An Answer to Snivellers.

From the San Francisco Commercial Herald.]

In view of the astounding increase in our national wealth of the remarkable development of our resources; the large influx of population from other countries; the wonder-recuperative energies evinced since the war and the inexhaustible financial strength of which abundant proof has been given, it is absurd to keep up the sniveling to which some journals have devoted themselves. According to their doctrine, the country is on the verge of financial ruin. We must stop building railroads and steamships; dismiss the army, dismantle the navy, sell the navy yards, do everything in the most economical and even penurious manner or suffer financial dissolution, and all because the Administration will persist in extinguishing the principal of the public debt. Now, what are really the facts in the case? We have got $450,000,000 less to pay than we had six years ago and we have got five millions more people to help to pay what remains; we have got ten times as much to pay with than we had then; we have established a first-class national credit, which could not have been done by pursuing any other policy; we have reduced public expenses to a very large extent, and have diminished taxation $[illegible]77,000,000 a year, with the certainty of being able to make further reduction if we keep on as we have been doing. We have built railroads faster than all other nations combined, and are making immense additions to the iron tracery which will some day connect all parts of the Union. We have largely extended our manufactures, and rendered ourselves more independent of foreign countries. We are constantly turning out [illegible] mineral treasure—more gold and silver—than all the rest of the world together. We are extending the fields of enterprise and productive industry, and reaping a rich reward. When the policy of paying off the public debt was commenced, in 1865, nobody found fault; every one felt the necessity of getting rid of it as soon as possible, although our resources were then at their lowest ebb and one-half the country was almost wholly unproducing. But now, in the midst of unparalleled prosperity, insatiate grumblers utter their moans and vent their rage against the Administration, because it has been successful and prosperous. They have made a most unhappy choice of subjects, for its financial policy has been, and is, one of its strongest points.

Early Cut Hay.

A central New York correspondent of the [illegible] Herald, gives the following on a subject which annually excites attention and discussion:

We have from boyhood up, advocated the early cutting of grass. We were led to this by what we saw done, and helped to do on the old homestead. We made it a business, early, to cut the swamp grasses first, and cut them quite early. This is to secure them from lodging, and to prevent them from getting hard when mature. In doing this we learned another fact—we found that the hay was so much better, that for this reason, more than any other, we cut, not only the swamp grasses early but the others also, as soon after as could be done.

What grass we removed from the swales, we used to always, after it was well wilted, put on the rails in the barn and sheds, thus stowing away many tons. Here it went slightly through the sweating operation, distributing through the building a fine aroma.

This was the greenest and best hay to feed we knew of in those days, though made up principally of red top with some coarser grasses and a little timothy. We kept this first cutting for spring feeding. The grains and hay of the mow and sheds were put upon it; but when these were removed (threshing was all done during the winter with horses,) the green layer showed itself at once and let out its fragrance at once.—This hay was fed to the cows that were then kept and that had [illegible] milk, and the increase of milk, and the abundance of milk, which were obtained on feeding this hay were almost miraculous. The butter was of a yellow cast and partook of the fragrance of the hay.

But this hay had been originally intended as "plowing hay," as we called it. We used it to do our spring work with and with decided advantage. Ever since for over thirty years, we advocated the early cutting of hay. The old homestead has continued it up to this day. There we can see the clovers, with their red blossoms, fed. They are red still—not pale or brown—and the stalk is green as in the summer with all its leaves intact and full; sometimes the weather interfering, this is less the case, the clover is well cured and more mature.

Now this clover fed in its prime, makes butter as in summer; the animal feels a summer influence; you can see it in the look, bright-eyed, with sweet breath, and the skin mobile, the bowels and whole animal to correspond. The droppings are those of summer.

But cut your clover two weeks later and all this is changed. You must have something else to aid the animal, some grain or roots or both, roots in case of mature hay (even if called good) should not be dispensed with; they impart the summer condition; and the farmer is inexcusable if he does not neutralize the effect of winter when it can as well be done as not. Depend upon it, there is nothing like early but well cured clover hay, to carry stock, of all kinds, through the winter. We have an instance in the case of John Smith, of Minden, one of our very best farmers, who told me the other day he had wintered his sheep on clover hay alone; "not a handful of anything else, and they are as fat as pigs."

Waller's Vote and Bush's Subscription.

The following characteristic story comes to us well authenticated, and we think will bear being put in print for the benefit of future generations who may be similarly situated.

By way of introduction, it is necessary to state that in 1858 Bush was running for public printer on the Democratic ticket and was hard pressed on every hand. He had his say at and about everybody in the State for seven years in the Statesman, and now that he was before the public for office, many a one who had felt the sting of his unmerciful lash was working might and main to get even by assisting to beat him at the polls. The great National-Democratic Abolition party, composed of Kelly, O'Meara, Dryer and their diverse followers, was formed almost exclusively to beat Bush and put an end to his long lease of power. O'Meara was nominated against him. Bush then, as now, lived at Salem, the Methodist stronghold, but for many reasons was not a favorite with them. However, Bro. Waller, who always looks ahead, voted for him. Some years afterwards Bush gave Waller $400 for the University at Salem. Not satisfied with this, the latter continued to solicit Bush for another donation, and by way of a personal appeal, always reminded him that he had voted for him in 1858. Not long since Bush replied to this appeal in this wise:

"Well, Mr. Waller, I know you voted for me; you may remember of telling me that before. And as yours was about the only Methodist vote that I got, I have always felt grateful to you for it; but as to pecuniary considerations, you must remember that I have already given you $400, and that is a good deal more than I was paying for votes at the time."—Exeuntomnes.
